Bantam Team Program

2019 Bantam Coach's Message

Congratulations to this year's Bantam team.

After a tough season where victories were few and far between, it can be difficult to look back and see what has been accomplished during the year. This year's young team showed resiliency and continued to work hard even when the results didn't seem to be coming game after game. Improvements were evident even if it didn't always show on the score board. The character of our players was tested and it was impressive to see many of them not give up and continue to dedicate themselves 3 nights per week at practice to making themselves and their team better. Much can be learned from adversity and those who continued to challenge themselves were better for being part of this year's club. This type of commitment will serve everyone well in whatever they do in life – whether in or out of football.

After having been given the privilege of head coaching this year's Bantam team for a second year, I was once again very fortunate to inherit an experienced staff with decades of playing and coaching experience. Working with this staff was a humbling experience given their expertise, passion and competitive drive. Without them, this young team would not have competed as hard as they did in a very tough Bantam Interprovincial season. Defensive and Offensive Coordinators, Joe Papalia and Paul Gowans, worked tirelessly evenings and weekends adapting to whatever the season threw at them. Even with player injuries and absences, they were able to ensure that players knew a variety of positions allowing us to prepare at practice and be prepared to compete in every game. Dan Crabtree's relentless refusal to accept anything but an honest effort on every play and every drill while coaching the linebackers, defensive line and special teams was what every young team needs. Coach Dave Latendresse's dedication to working with the quarterbacks every night was crucial to building confidence within the offence and Coach Terry Schaefer brought competitive toughness working with the defensive line and on special teams. Partway through the season, we were also lucky enough to bring Coach Rich Szydlo onboard and his knowledge and work with the offensive line will pay dividends for many of these player's years down the road. Coach Norm Fortier also joined us part way through the season and supported the offensive backs and receivers, emphasizing fundamentals every day. On the sidelines and behind the scenes this year were our manager Liam Fleming, our equipment manager Troy McLeod and our trainer Melanie Sleep. All worked tirelessly preparing coaches and players week in and week out. Without them, there simply is no season.

Finally, I want to once again thank Paul Stewart for trusting me to oversee the most senior level within the Bell Warriors organization. Paul continued to contribute to the offence as a coach while at the same time being a source of guidance and support through the ups and downs of this season. His dedication to the players and staff cannot be overstated.

Early in the season, the challenges that lay ahead were not immediately evident. We knew we had a young team but an unexpectedly early start to the season soon showed us that the Interprovincial competition would be tough. An early victory followed by a number of closer losses challenged the players and staff to keep grinding and looking for ways to improve. A large number of injuries to key players week after week continued to push this young group out of their comfort zone. However, many players took that opportunity to show us they would do what it took for their teammates by playing wherever they were needed. Ultimately, in the "B" Semi-finals, the team showed no quit. Down at half, the defence held and the offence battled back to keep the game close. With less than 2 minutes remaining, we came within a two-point conversion from tying the game and a recovered on-side kick gave which us one more chance, but it just wasn't enough. The players battled until the last whistle and like any other season, it hurts when you don't win the last game you play.

This season taught me more than any other season I have coached. Winning and losing both come with lessons. The lessons are easier to accept when they come after winning but the lessons learned through hard times are the ones that really challenge you. Make sure to take a moment and appreciate your hard work and remember what you can overcome when things get hard. It was my privilege to get to know the players, staff and parents of the 2019 Bantam team. To those of you moving up to Midget next year, prepare to be challenged and if you continue to work hard, you will succeed. For those of you returning to Bantam, you have a greater responsibility and the team and coaching staff will look to you for leadership on and off the field. I know you will be ready. Thank you,

Coach Rich

Richard Baylin, Bell Warriors Bantam Head Coach
